without a further reduction in wages would be ruinous to many railroads. Thus far in the year 1921 the railways have earned a net return of only 2.6 per cent, and althought the net earnings have increased recently owing largely to the recent reduction in wages, a general reduction of rates without a further reduction in wages would

"Concurrently with such reduction in wages," a statement of the association said, "the benefit of the reduction thus obtained shall, with the assent of the interstate commission, be passed on the public in the reduction of existing railroad rates, except in so far as this reduction shall have been made in the meantime."

Thomas Dewitt Cuyler, chairman of the association, declared that the proposition of the public group of the labor board, that the 12 per cent wage reduction recently authorized be translated into lower freight rates before asking for more wage reductions, had not been formally brought to its attention, the information being obtained from the press.

Claims Reductions.

Claims Reductions.

After asserting that "the intima-tion of the public members of the railroad labor board is that the pub-lic has no benefit from the 12 per cent reduction in wages authorized in July." Mr. Cuyler declared that "there have been in fact extensive reductions, most of them voluntary, in railroad rates, bringing about a large loss in earnings to the rail-roads."

large loss in earnings to the railroads."

"The reduction of wages made on July 1," he added, "was put into effect only after many freight reductions had previously been made." In support of his claim, Mr. Cuyler cites a long list of reductions made after July 1, including "a reduction on cargo coal from points in Ohio, western Pennsylvania, West Virginia to Lake Erle ports affecting from August 1 to October 7, some 14,700,000 tons, on which the actual loss of revenue to railroads amounted to $4,116,000."

Reductions also had been made, he said, on grain and grain products, roadmaking materials, export iron and steel products and scores of other commodities so that "on some railroads the reduction in rates have amounted to more than the reductions in wages so far made, and on many other railroads the reduction in wages allowed no return on operations, but merely provided against the further accumulation of a deficit."

Many Autos Available.

Many Autos Available.

More than nine million automobiles and trucks will be available for emergency if the railroad strike called for October 30 goes into effect, Alfred Reeves, general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, declared in a statement today. Mr. Reeves said the motor trucks of the country could easily handle freight necessary to relieve emergencies, and added that in cities commuting passenger traffic could be taken care of by motor buses.

Farmers, Mr. Reeves said, own 139,000 trucks, and these, with those in cities, could be utilized in delivering food products.

Wants Strike. Wants Strike.

Wants Strike.

F. D. Underwood, president of the Eric raliroad, tonight expressed the hope that the strike would actually occur. "This is the time and place for it," he declared, adding that the strike was one against the "umpire" or the United States railroad labor board. "It should be understood," said Mr. Underwood, that the present strike movement so prominently before the public analyzed, amounts to this: It is different from any other strike in that it is not directed against rallways, but against the verdict of a body constituted by congress who, after a hearing, fixed wages, not at the instance of the interested parties, but founded on conditions developed by evidence.

"The real purpose is not appreciated by some of us. It is to bring about government control—the desire of all labor bodies, some part of the public and some members of congress.

For U. S. Centrol.

"Railroad labor has the idea that under government control they are better off; naturally they are for it. A leader of the railway conductors, when asked why his men preferred government control, said: Because the conditions are better and the discipline not so sharp." "This is an interesting thing for the public—the users of the railroads whose money pays the railroad employee. Their safety depends largely upon the discipline, which is not a thing to be trifled with. For U. S. Control.

CONFERENCE CONCLUDED.

Washington, October 17.—A report embodying the result of conferences between the public group of the railroad labor board and the interstate commerce commission on the threatened railroad strike was laid before President Harding late today. The text of the report was not made public but Chairman McChord, of the commission, announced on leaving the white house, that the conferences had been concluded with today's meeting.

"Anything regarding our report must come from the president," Chairman McChord said, and his remark was approved by Chairman Barton, of the labor board.

At the white house it was said there would be no statement on the railroad strike tonight.

An attitude of watchful preparation characterized the activities of other governmental agencies in connection with the strike. The department of justice completed a survey of existing statutes and precedents to determine the scope of federal authority under the circumstances, but the impression given by most officials was that the government could not move, except by mediation or moral suasion, until the situation had assumed a more concrete status. Evidence was still lacking as to a basis for the expressed expectation on the part of some labor leaders that a petition for injunction would be the next move by the government.

"The mails will be moved," he said later.

"A time may come for action. I sincerely trust that it will not. If it does there will be action."

At the conference between members of the labor board and the commerce commission, voluminous statistics on railroad payroll and employment conditions were considered.

The conferees saw Attorney-General Daugherty at noon and then Mr. Daugherty lunched with the president. The attorney-general however, declined to discuss his interview with Mr. Harding or one which he held later with Postmaster-General Hays.

Alfred P. Thom, general counsel for the Association of Railway Executives, was active during the day in conferences with Chairman Cummins, of the senate interstate commerce committee. Senator Cummins said, after the conference, that congress probably would not take any action at this time. It would be impossible, he said, for the legislative arm of the government to move until the executive had exhausted every effort to avert a strike.

White House Silent.

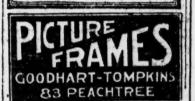

The possibility of President Harding summoning the chiefs of the railroad brotherhoods to Washington for a talk was suggested in several quarters, but the white house was silent on this point. While the joint conference of members of the labor beard and the interstate commerce commission was continuing, it was the general impression that President Harding would not take any other line of intervention. Having before him the report of the conference, however, it was considered not unlikely that this might include recommendations or suggestions which would require sub-mission to the union chiefs. Government officials, it was learned today, are paving close atopinion to the threatened paralysis of transportation. In some quarters the opinion was expressed that the weight of public opinion would be the determining factor in averting the strike or in bringing it to a speedy close if other efforts failed to avert it.

"Our orders giving the men permission to quit work October 30—we are merely marking time until something develops from the other side,"

Mr. Stone said.
Both Mr. Stone and Mr. Lee tonight discussed the possibilty of the government attempting to run mail trains following publication of a statement from Washington by Postmaster General Hays that "the mail will be moved." They said they "know of no law which compels a man to work who wants to quit."

No Exceptions.

"No exception will be made to any class of service, and the talk about a skeleton service' being permitted is pure bunk." President Lee said.

Mr. Lee stated that between 90 and 95 per cent of the total railroad mileage of the entire country will be affected if the strike takes place. Mr. Lee made it clear that no employee of any of the train service organizations will go on strike between terminals. Should they be aught between terminals at the hour the strike order is effective, they will take their train through to its destintion. This provision applies equally to passenger trains, he said.

"The men's position and their reasons for striking are in part as follows:

"When the transportation act of 1920 became a law it was hoped by the employees that all disputes would be adjusted, and decisions rendered by the board would be complied with by the carriers and employees. Instead of complying with the decisions of the labor board, the railroads soon began to disregard or flout its decisions. Flagrant cases of this being the action of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic, the Erie, the Pennsylvania railroad and many other cases that could be cited.

Statement Made Wilson.

Statement Made Wilson, It is well known and admitted by all that the railway men were the last to receive any increase during the war period. During August, 1919, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers submitted to President Wilson a statement setting forth that a decrease in the cost of the necessities of life was necessary or an increase in wages was imperative.

From that time on the question of wages was discussed on different occasions and was finally submitted to the labor board. In July, 1920, the board handed down a decision which, based on all the facts, they declared was just and equitable, and further stated that their conclusions were reached after long consideration of all the facts as evidenced by the testimony before that board. that board.

"Later Mr. Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania ralispad, appeared before the board and in a spectacular presentation demanded an immediate reduction of the wages of all rail-

This was denied on technical grounds because the carriers had

"The railroads then began to serve notice on all their employees demanding reductions in pay thereby legally creating a dispute which was referred to the labor board resulting in a 12 per cent reduction as of July 1, 1921.

"To further aggravate the situation, immediately following this meeting a great number of the railroads served notice on their employees that they would revise a schedule and take from them the rules governing their service that had been in effect for from ten to

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an Itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to flery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or rough-ness.

"A conference of all general chairmen was arranged to be held in the month of July in the city of Chicago. The result of said conference was to instruct the executives of the organizations to meet the executives of the railroads some time prior to September 1, for the purpose of trying to bring about an amicable adjustment. This was done and a committee-of railroad executives were met in the east, southeast and western territories, their answers all being similar and denying any kind of conciliatory measures.

"Following the refusal of the executives of the railways to enter into any agreement with the executives of the organizations, there was nothing left to do but refer the matter to a referendum vote of all

The entire Pennsylvania system is included in group four which is scheduled to leave the service at 6 a. m., November 5. No explanation was available as to why this large trunk line system was placed in the final group.

In a signed statement, Mr. Stone this evening set forth the reasons for the "big five" transportation organizations authorizing a strike of their membership which is set to begin October 30. In the statement, he reviews the various attempts made to obtain an amicable settlement. Mr. Stone's statement follows:

Wonderful Values in Style, Quality and Price

This is a Studebaker Year

We have been asked the question how we account for the tide of Studebaker popularity which has swept the country.

Among others, two fundamental causes explain it:

- 1. The outstanding cause is the value of Studebaker Cars, in quality, style, performance, durability, and price, demonstrated by the complete satisfaction and enthusiasm of nearly one-half million owners who know values.
- 2. The universal respect for and confidence in the integrity of the name STUDEBAKER which for seventy years has been the symbol of quality and fair dealing.

Crowning proof of the dependability of Studebaker cars is reflected in our diminishing business in service parts.

> With approximately 116,000 more Studebaker cars in operation on September 1st, 1921, our parts business the first eight months of this year was 3% less than in the same period two years ago.

> While our car manufacturing plants operated this year 41% ahead of last year, our service parts manufacturing plant has operated at from one-half to two-thirds of last year.

Studebaker Cars are standing up in service and staying out of repair shops, to a degree unexcelled, we believe, by any cars of whatever price.

Young Girls

FROM the age of twelve a girl needs all the care the thoughtful mother can give. Many a woman has suffered years of pain and misery—the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance of the mother who should have guided her during this time. If she complains of headaches, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter make life easier for her. Lydia E.Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for such conditions. It can be taken in safety by any woman, young or old. Read How These Mothers Helped Their Daughters

Cuttenberg, N. J. — My daughter was all run down and had fainting spells often, had a bad complexion, and suffered at her monthly periods. Her grandmother had been taking Lydia E Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for the Change of Life, and got a bottle of it for her. She began to improve with the first bottle and took five in all and was entirely restored to health. For a time she had not been able to attend school, but she does now. She recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to her friends and I give you permission to publish this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. CATHARINE McGLOVE, 304 24th St., Guttenberg, N. J.

Roxbury, Mass.—"My daughter is a schoolgirl and she suffered very much with irregular periods, painful cramps and dizzy headaches. She was sometimes as long as three months between her periods and when they came she was not able to do her school home lessons because she could not even sit up. A copy of one of your little books was left in my letter-box and she began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for her troubles. She is now in good health, is regular and can help me with the housework when not in school."—Mrs. Victoria G. Spiessert, 74 Bragdon St., Roxbury, Mass.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—lossens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Pt. Wayne, Ind.

There are shirts that choke and shirts whose collars leave your neck like a turtle's, stretching from his shelf! There are shirts whose cuffs insist on sticking down into the soup, and others that leave your hands dangling like Ichabod Crane's, "a mile below the sleeves!"

NORTHEAST GEORGIA FAIR STARTS TODAY

Vashington, Ga., October 17 .- (Special.)-Manager J. Luke Burdett, of the East Georgia fair, today aninced everything in readiness for the eleventh annual fair for Wilkes county, the formal opening of which will occur Tuesday at noon. Advance preparations have been on an extensive scale for the week's entertainment. Many of the big agricultural exhibits (are in place and the various departments will have every detail completed today for one of the best displays of farm products, live stock, hogs, poultry nd the like that has been assembled in this section of Georgia.

The East Georgia fair, from its in-

The East Georgia fair, from its inception, eleven years ago, has been a tremendous factor in the material progress of Wilkes county, and has done its full share in advancing every line of industry, bringing home to each citizen of the county and to the countless visitors who have been attracted here, the resources of northeast Georgia and the wonderful agricultural possibilities of the state.

Back in 1910.

When the first show was put on in 1910, razor-back hogs, scrub cows and dunghill chickens predominated, and practically all the food consumed by man and beast was imported from the north and west. Wilkes county farmers concentrated their full time and their best efforts to a maximum production of cotton under the misguided impression that cotton was the only thing which they could raise to advantage at home that could always be converted readily into cash.

Today a very different situation exists, and its realization has been largely influenced by the educational value of the fair. Now, every Wilkes county farmer has pure-bred hogs, cows and poultry, and a full supply of home-grown produce sufficient to feed the county is grown annually. Preparations are already being made for a regular export of the surplus commodities raised in Wilkes county to other sections, reversing, thereby, the flow of money which has in years past imwednesday will be a big day at the fair. Governor Hardwick comes as honor guest of the East Georgia Fair association to address the people of Wilkes and adjoining counties along the lines of proposed fiscal policies for the state.

The chief executive will arrive tomorrow afternoon, and will be entertained at a dinner party at the Country club in the evening by Loren B. Williamson.

To Hold Tournament.

An old-time tournament will be one of the interesting attractions at the fair each day. Practice for these events grows more popular daily, and there will be a fine lot of the proper engaged in the thrilling

The second floor of the main fair building is given over to the ladies' department and when the gates are thrown open tomorrow it will resemble fairyland with pretty decorations and attractive displays. The school exhibits, girls' clubs, women's clubs and some special exhibits will have space on this floor. The Kiwanis club will have a special booth at the fair, which will be in the nature of a surprise, which is certain to attract a great deal of interest and stimulate constructive affort on the part of Georgia farmers to meet and overcome the difficulties brought about by the period of depression through which they have passed.

Friday will be Children's day, Every school child in Wilkes and Lincoln counties will be admitted free, and it will be a day given over to fuss and fun for the children.

A football game between Washington High and Elberton High elevens will be one of the drawing cards. In the ladies' department on Friday a baby show will be held. Bables from six months to eighteen months old are to be entered in the contest and some worthwhile prizes will be offered to stimulate interest and insure a large number of entries. While the men are devoting their time and efforts to improvement of stock strains on their farms the women of the county are determined that just as much effort and intelligent interest and expense shall be put forth in the campaign for "better babies."

SET FOR TUESDAY

Claude A. West, former executive secretary under three Georgia governors and retained in the office of Governor Thomas W. Hardwick until about three months tgo, Tuesday morning will be arraigned for commitment trial before Judge Hathcock, of the municipal court, on the charge of embezzling state funds.

The charges of a leged deficits in West's accounts created a sensation two weeks ago when they were made public by officials. The alleged shortages will amount to approximately $7,000, according to statements from the governor's department. West has made no statement relative to the allegations, except to say that if auditors found any deficit in his accounts it would "be made good immediately."

His commitment trial was called last Tuesday. Judge Hathcock, however, postponed it until Tuesday. West now is at liberty under a $7,000 bond. He is well-known throughout the state, having been prominent in politics and a candidate for secretary of state against Guyt MeLendon in the last democratic primary.

Improvement Club Of Eleventh Ward To Hold Meeting

Several matters of importance will be taken up by the Eleventh Ward Improvement club at its meeting in the clubhouse at Whitefoord avenue and the South Decatur car line Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock. The erection of a new public school, on an acre of land to be donated to the city; the extension of Whitefoord avenue through a wooded stretch or land to join Patterson avenue, there by connecting Druid Hills with East Atlanta; the paving of East Fair street from the city limits to South Moreland, and the proposed entertainment to the men employed in concreting Whitefoord avenue, will be discussed.

As a result of the high praise given to the religious pageant presented at St. Luke's church by the united Episcopal churches of the city Sunday evening, it will be repeated next Sunday evening at St. Philip's cathedral. The pageant was commemorative of the centennial of the missionary organizations of the Eniscopal church, and the semi-centennial of the woman's auxiliary The pageant, which marched down the long aisles of the church, was headed by the three vested choirs of St. Luke and Alf Saints' churches and St. Philip's cathedral. Following them were allegorical figures clad in costumes of the middle ages, and carrying lighted torches. Young

There followed a short mission service in which the speakers were George Hinman, Franklin M. Mikell and Charles E. Robertson. The musical program was under the direction of Mr. McCord, organist of the cathedral, and included selections from Beethoven and Wagner, while an amplification of the Dresden Amen was heard at intervals throughout the service. Acting as director of the celebration was Miss Carolyn Cobb, and Mrs. Ulric Atkinson was general chairman.

COMMITTEE WILL ASK LOWER FARES FOR THE CHILDREN

Sutton, superintendent of schools, said Monday that the Georgia Railway and Power company's announcement that street car fares will not be lowered to school children, will not deter the special committee named at a meeting last week from going before President Preston A. Arkwright with its appeal for a reduction. He stated that no steps to carry the request to the railroad commission will be taken until the company has announced its final decision.

RCOLA WEEK

An Invitation to the Ladies especially

Many Heating Engineers are keeping their stores open evenings and invite you to come in and meet ARCOLA

THIS WEEK is ARCOLA Week and the Heating Engineers are keeping open house. Many will keep their stores open evenings for you.

They invite you to come in and meet ARCOLA, the wonderful new hot-water heating outfit which warms a whole house with its single fire, taking the place of several stoves and paying for itself in the fuel it saves.

If you don't know where your Heating Engineer's store is, pick up the classified telephone directory and look under "Heating Contractors" or "Steamfitters" or "Plumbers." Pick out the name and address nearest your home

And decide now to accept this invitation; it may mean a saving of $25 on this winter's fuel bill: or even more than that!

For Arcola-built by the same company whose larger heating plants are installed in mansions, cathedrals and even the White House itself-is guaranteed to do these five things:

1-Connected with American Radiators, it fills the whole house with healthful hot-water warmth.

2-It takes the place of several stuffy stoves, and pays for itself in the fuel it saves. In that sense it is really a gift.

3-It can be connected to the kitchen tank, too, giving an abundance of hot water for washing and 4-It can be installed immediately without the slightest disturbance to the family.

5—It adds from three to five times its cost to the selling value of your house-just as IDEAL Boilers and larger AMERICAN Radiator systems add far more than their cost to the value of larger buildings.

ARCOLA is unlike any heating plant you have ever seen. It is an entirely new invention developed after years of experiment in the largest thermal research laboratories in the United States.

Don't try to imagine what it is until you have seen it: But for the sake of your comfort-and your children's comfort and health especially - accept your Heating Engineer's invitation.

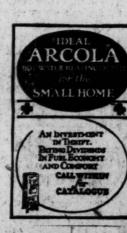

One-third of your fuel bill is worth saving. See ARCOLA any day or evening this week.

WAGES AND RATES.

It is possible, if not probable, that an early reduction of transportation rates, both freight and passenger, may be the means of adjusting the controversy between the carriers and their employees and of averting the threatened general strike, scheduled for October 30.

A suggestion to that effect has been made by the public group of the railroad labor board, in a formal statement to the country by its spokesman, Ben W. Hooper, a member of the group; and that suggestion, in turn, is approved by the carriers, and that they can ill afford, but it would be a step in the restoration of sound business conditions, and the public should ive to the carriers a real appreciation of their act." .

A uniform reduction of transportation rates would affect labor as well as business, and the suggestion that such a policy be adapted as a basis of solution of the whole railroad-wage problem is worth serious consideration by all interests concerned-labor, the railroads and the public.

Transportation rates, freight and passenger, are undoubtedly too high.

Undoubtedly, too, if the rates are lowered both the gross and by 'tens of thousands of Atlanta net returns to the railroads would people, many of them our most be greater than they are now.

on a basis that superimposed a backs on the Southeastern fair burden greater than the public and politely damn it by their indifcan stand

The result, in its effect upon passenger business, is that many who would travel on the railroads if the rates were less are not now using the rail carriers.

And as to freight business, the existing rates amount to a partial embargo that stifles agriculture and throttles industry.

The public unquestionably would assume a more sympathetic attitude toward the railroads if it knew that reduced wages to railroad employees would result in correspondingly reduced freight and passenger rates.

Undoubtedly, too, the rail workers themselves would assume a different attitude if they knew that wage reduction would mean a lessening of the burden the public is now forced to bear on account of excessive freight and passenger rates.

The first wage reduction of 12 per cent, which became effective last July, and which reduced the cost of operating the rairoads approximately $400,000,000 per annum, has not as yet been met by any reduction in rates.

The statement is made that the next wage reduction asked for by the railroad would be made conditional upon a reduction in rates: At this stage of the controversy the railroads should make it clear beyond all question, that not only the proposed wage reduction, but the last one also, would be met concurrently by a corresponding reduction in rates. The public grown of the labor board points out in its statement, that "wages and rates should come to a just and reasonable level, uniformly or by alternating stages." The mere fact that the situation s being generally discussed from the standpoint of justice and fair play to all interests involved fustifies the hope that out of it all a basis of agreement may be roach ed whereby the calamity of a general railroad tie-up may be averted.

UNCLE DAVE'S" BIRTHDAY Today is the sixty-ninth birthday anniversary of David C. Barrow, affectionately known to thousands of Georgians as "Uncle Dave." chancellor of the University of Georgia.

The whole state, and Georgia dumni in all parts of the country, join in felicitating the veteran chancellor upon his remarkable record of success as the directing head, for many years, of the university.

And the occasion of his birthday affords his friends opportunity to manifest their regard for him personally, their appreciation of his work and their interest in the great educational institution to which he has devoted the best years of his life, by contributing in a palace. to the success of the University War Memorial Fund campaign now under way.

In a leastet published by the university alumni in the interests of the memorial fund, the state ment is made that "in the days when we worked and played at old Georgia, if 'Uncle Dave' said, 'I wish you would,' we did!-no command, no persuasion, no question about it. > ference!" The Southeastern fair stands as a monument to the enterprise, the untiring, intelligent effort and unselfish sacrifice and devotion of the few public-spirited citizens who have given their money and their time and attention to make it what it is - as Mr. Hastings truthfully acclaims it, "the outstanding annual fair and exposition of all the southeast," and one of the great exploitation institutions of the whole country. While this annual event means much to Georgia and to the southeast, it means infinitely more to Atlanta.

In a sense it is an Atlanta en terprise. Atlanta receives great direct benefits from it each year. As an advertising medium alone it is worth much more to Atlanta than what it costs this city to maintain it.

In short, the Southeastern fair is one of Atlanta's leading tangible assets. Surely, then, it is little enough to expect the people of Atlanta—the people of all classes, old and young, rich and poor - to reward and encourage the fair management and its financial backers, at east to the extent of attending it! The fair has only five days more to run; and every man, woman and child in Atlanta should spend at least one of those days on the fair grounds.

It's time to be figuring on ho many dollars from now till Christmas.

VITAMINS IN FOOD. Vitamin is pronounced with the long as in vital and not short as in victual. No use in discussing the origin of the word, because it was coined rather too previously anyhow, and like the term hysteria, it doesn't mean just what it signifies. Some laymen seem to know that one must have plenty of vitamins in order to keep well, just as one must have plenty of calories and oxygen and sunlight and sleep. Milk and butter and cheese and skim milk and natural buttermilk and soured milk and fermented milk beverages all contain one of the three classes of these food acces-sories, called in this instance fat soluble A factor, and these foods are all good for that peason, among others, in the daily regimen.

But other common foods are quite as good as milk as sources of fat soluble A factor (which vitamin seems to prevent rickets). Thus liver, fresh eggs, dried eggs, lettuce, spinach, beef fat, mutton fat, entire unmilled wheat, raw cabbage, salmon, herring and other foods will supply all the fat soluble A factor anyone needs so far as any scientist has yet learned.

In fact, few children or adults

In fact, few children or adults in America or Canada suffer from a deficiency of vitamins unless milk or to boiled milk or even to pasteurized milk for many months. Here is the verdict of a special committee of scientists of eminent fitness who investigated the problem thoroughly: "It is safe to say that the individual always finds a sufficient supply of vitamins in his food so long as that food is reasonably varied and has received no artificial or accidental separation into par-agd so long as no destructive influ-ence has been applied to it." The food must be varied-the

A large congregation attended Dr. Goodell's evening service, at which his subject was "How to Obtain a Heligious Experience." To pass through this experience of the soul, declared Dr. Goodel, a person must first do four things: he must go to Jesus; he must go to the Word of God, the Bible; he must go to prayer, and finally, he must go to work.

At the conclusion of the evening service, Dr. Goodell asked all who would seek to lead another into a better moral life to raise their hands. Many hands were raised in all parts of the church in response to this request.

Began in Georgia.

The fight on farm demonstrators began a year or more ago on complaints from Georgia that were heard by the house banking and currency committee. These complaints principally alleged undue activity on the part of many demonstrators in the organization and propagation of local farm bureaus to become affiliated with the national federation of farm bureaus, alleged to be a private institution. Nothing of consequence came of that inquiry except a lot of expense to the taxpayers.

This new attack by the National Association of Grain Dealers is along different lines, however, and it is thought not improbable that the department of agriculture will sooner or later seek to restrict the activities of farm demonstrators to those assigned under the federal aid law, and to the instructions of the state agricultural college heads, under which they serve. He broke off suddenly, and as she rose and came to his side her face paled instinctively, at a sudden strangeness in his voice. She was still in doubt as to how her story had affected him.

"I will give hilda your message, but what message do you leave with me?" In her clear, honest eyes there was neither timidity or emotion, and he took both her hands in his. "Why are you afraid, Agnes, that I should judge you harshly. Is it not enough that no action in your past has come from coldness of heart, from any scheme of selfishness, from any base motive? Do you remember what Thomas a Kempis says of love, Nothing is sweeter than love, nothing stronger, nothing fuller and better in heaven or earth? The past is past, and we should no more hinder the development of the future than the forest lets the shed leaves hinder the spring grass from growing."

Neither knew how it came about, but for several minutes they clasped each other, in silence. The solemnity of a great peace was upon them. She could hear the beating of his heart, and she thought how strange it was that each one of those deep pulsations meant love for her. Her lips quivered and her voice trembled, but her eyes met his resolute y, fearlessly.

Dr. Burt was 63 years of age. He was born in Dawson county, where he practiced medicine successfully for twenty years before moving to Atlanta. His widow, who was Miss Isabelle Thompson, is also a native of Dawson county.

At one time Dr. Burt served in the Georgia legislature as a member from Dawson county. He moved to Atlanta in 1899, where he discontinued medical practice and engaged in other business with great success. He was a member of the Masonic and Odd Fellow fraternities, and had a large circle of friends in the city.

Surviving relatives of Dr. Burt are his widow and a daughter. Mrs. G. Carleton Hosch, of St. Louis, Mo. His son, Charles H. Burt, died in the service of his country at Camp Mills, N. to offer you a ten-day test and urge that you accept it. The film discolors

Your teeth are coated with a viscous film. You can feel it with your tongue. It is ever-present, ever-forming. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and

The ordinary tooth paste does not end that film. The tooth brush, used in old ways, leaves much of it intact. So very few have escaped the damage which that film creates.

That film-coat absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. Countless facial attractions are marred in that way. Combat that film for a little while and see how your teeth improve.

How teeth are ruined

That film is now known as the cause of most tooth troubles. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Also of many other troubles, local and internal.

Despite the tooth brush, these troub-les have been constantly increasing. Some have become alarming in extent. So dental science has for years been seeking ways to combat that film.

Two effective methods

Two effective methods have been found. Many careful tests have proved them. They have been combined in a dentifrice called Pepsodent.

Millions of people who have tried it now employ it daily. Leading dentists everywhere advise its use. In almost every circle, glistening teeth show its visible results.

Every home is welcome to a ten-day test. Make it and watch the effects.

Other desired results

Pepsodent brings other effects which authorities desire.

It multiplies the salivary flow. That is Nature's great tooth-protecting agent. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is Nature's agent for digesting starch deposits which may otherwise form acids.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is Nature's factor for neutralizing acids which cause tooth decay.

These results come from every ap-plication. They last for some time. And they give Nature much-needed aid in combating the possible effect of modern starchy diet on teeth.

Tooth pastes based on soap and chalk have the opposite effect. Modern au-

N. G. SMITH NAMED LOWRY BANK DIRECTOR

At the regular meeting of the board of directors of the Lowry National bank held Monday afternoon William G. Smith, vice president for the American Railway Express company in the south, was elected to the board to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of E. M. Williams, who has recently left Atlanta.

Mr. Smith, the newly-elected director, came to Atlanta of October 1 from Cleveland, where he was general manager of the Eastern Lakes department of the American Railway Express company. He was well known throughout the Great Lakes territory as a dean among express officials, having been in the express business for forty years.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Smith, who has now become a bank director, started his career in business as a bank messenger in the local bank at Fox Lake, Wis., where he was born.

And why are all the university alumni so interested in the million-dollar fund for their alma mater?

Because "Uncle Dave" has asked it. For almost a quarter of a century the University of Georgia has been led by his wisdom and character. Thousands of graduates have been turned out during this time, not one of whom does not love and honor Chancellor Barrow.

"Uncle Dave," a great old man, loved by all who know him, celebrates his 69th birthday.

Even Greater Effect.

It is the whale of a big thing, but I believe that the scenic artist reaches an even greater triumph in the effect he gets of the burned forest the morning after.

The presenting company is adequate. Katherine Hayden as "Manette" is pretty and appealing and strangely enough, is as appegling in her lighter moments as she is in her emotional scenes. As becomes the part, she speaks a French-Canadian dialect, and does it in such truly French-Canadian style, that a good many of her lines are lost.

In fact, the entire production suffers from too much dialect. Joseph Driscoll, who plays "Manette's" father, of course speaks her same patois. Charles T. Lewis, who plays an Indian hunter, is expected to, and does speak, in gutterals. W. Mayne Lynton, of the golf stockings, by the same token speaks a British dialect, however, one which he never exaggerates, and which is always convincing. Ben Taggart, a fine figure of a man, is the hero. The stage name is "Burr Winton," which doesn't seem to necessitate a dialect, but nevertheless, uses one, though I never found out exactly what kind.

There were several times when I wished that the producers had followed the opera custom and provided in brettos with the English translation.

However, the dialect detracts little from the gripping character of the play and the overwhelming immensity of the fire scene. The production furnishes a fine evening's entertainment.

When the policies were all inwhen the policies were all in-dexed and the premiums paid, Col-onel Jake Ruppert teetered back on his heels of new, live rubber, hooked his thumbs in his vest pockets, said, said he, to Colonel Til Huston:
"Well, that, so to speak, is that." Colonel Heeters Teeters

"Ah, yes," Colonel Teeters, Tee.

"Ah, yes," Colonel Til replied, teetering, too, with his own thumbs in his own vest pockets, "that would seem to be that or its equivalent. Whatever happens to Mr. Ruth now, we need not worry. Does a locomotive jump the track and land in his lap, we're insured."

But there was just one risk they had overlooked and this was the one that had got Ruth into trouble before—his wilfulness. One word from any constituted authority and Babe Ruth does as he jolly well likes, if convenient.

word from any constitutess. One word from any constitutes authority and Babe Ruth does as he jolly well likes, if convenient.

Now, Judge K. M. Landis, the supreme court of baseball, may give Babe Ruth one of his famous Standard Oil decisions. This is a little thing the Colonel' completely forgot to cover with insurance. Like the Babe, Judge Landis either hits 'em big or misses big. The Standard Oil pleaded nolo, contendere and he smashed out a fine of $29.240,000.37. Babe Ruth doesn't enter a passive plea. He implies that he is bigger in baseball than Landis himself, and his "good morning, Judge," vibrates with defiance. If Landis bars Ruth from basebal, the two Yankee colonels have a total loss on their hands without salvage or insurance. The Babe is not only the attacking power of their club, but also the drawing power that turned people away from the Polo grounds and other ball parks by thousands in 1920 and 1921. Without him the New York Yanks are just the New York Americans.

The Colonels liptoed around all day, almost afraid to think of what Babe's defiant attitude may mean to them, their club and their communal treasury. Miller Huggins, manager of the Yanks, often more managed than managing, had not a syllable to say about the business, leaving it all to the owners.

Finally the Colonels issued a formal statement, handling the situation with tongs, like this: "It is regrettable that the rules of base-ball prohibiting members of the world's series teams from playing exhibition bames has been violated so defiantly by some of the Yankse players that Judge Landis has no alternative but to meet the situation firmly. This rule appears to be unjust in many respects but as long as it exists it should be observed. The players made a mistake in not petitioning for a modification of the rule."

Babe Ruth and Bob Meusel played outlaw ball Sunday in Buffalo, by participating in a barnstorm against fication of the rule."

club from playing outside the regular season.

Landis' authority will be tested severely during the winter, as Ruth and Meusel are not the only players discontented with the arbitrary and extra-legal gcheme of controlling players. The system was on trial once before Landis, as federal judge, during the Federal league fake. He delayed decision and the Feds sold out for what they had wanted all the time—a share of the pickings. No decision ever was rendered, and the forces of organized baseball were glad to obviate one by settling with the Feds.

Landis laid heavy fines against a number of Washington players this year for a game with a club said to have numbered outlaws among its members, although the Washington men protested that the outlaws had been dropped from the ranks of their opponents. This is another instance of what the players believe to be injustice.

Last Contract Expired.

Last Contract Expired.

Ruth is on the roster of the Yanks, but he claims to be not a member of the club because his last contract has expired, and he has not yet renewed. Babe got a little over $3,000 for playing in the world's series, but he could have made at last three times that much by barnstorming. So it cost him at least $6,000 to help the Yanks to win the American league pennant, which any baseball magante will say, is not business. business.

Now Ruth is trying to collect what he can on his personal popularity after discharging his season's obligations to the Yanks and organized baseball. For that he may be barred.

Chicago, October 17.—Babe Ruth is about to learn who is the boss of organized baseball. Judge Landis, high commissioner of the game, declared Monday he elected to be the teacher.

He declared either a heavy fine or suspension hovered over the Babe for starting his barnstorming career in opposition to the rules of baseball about world's series players participating in exhibition games.

Landis came to this decision on his return here from New York where he looked over the world's series.

"I notified him two weeks ago that the rules prohibited this sort of thing," he said. The judge stated he was holding off his decision due to more pressing matters and that he would show in this statement "what sort of a gentleman" Ruth was.

customer to pick on seemed to be the general opinion.

Elmira, N. Y., October 17.—"If Judge Landis sees fit to rule us out of baseball for the remainder of our lives we shall attempt no appeal," declared Babe Ruth, as he returned from an exhibition game at Dunn field, here Monday.

It was the second he has played since the termination of the world series.

"I have not considered it necessary to employ an attorney to give me advice in this matter. We are only following the precedent set by other major league players for years and if Judge Landis wants to single us out and banish us from the major leagues we will not put up a fight."

Ruth swatted three home runs in the game here Monday against Lee Straight's Arctic league players and all of them went over the outfield fence. Meusel tapped one for a home run, scoring Ruth, who had singled. The final score was 6 to 0.

Battling Gahee, the husky Memphis heavyweight, startled the Atlanta fight fans who witnessed his workout at the Business Men's club on Sunday evening with his remarkable cleverness and speed for a big man and tubereby he converted a good number of Flowers' supporters over to the Gahee side of the argument that is scheduled to take place at 8:36 tonight at the club, corner Hunter and South Forsyth streets. Gahee went six fast rounds with the veteran Billy Hooper, and invited Hooper to put more stuff on his punches, duplicating his actions in the Dempsey camp of last summer when he laughed at the champion, and asked for more.

On the other hand, Matchmaker Miller has promised the big Memphis battler, Gahee, that he will bring the noted Tham Langford or Harry Wills down here for him if he defeats the "Tiger." So both have something besides the cold that they will get tonight to work for. All of the fighters on the card tonight are in town, and have reported fit and ready for the gong. Rutgers Played Second String

Varsity Stars Were Held

Rutgers, 14, Washington and Lee 13. And this is one score, my friends, that emphatically does not tell the story. To the eyes of the casual observer it would seem that Rutgers by good luck and the grace of a good kicker had nosed out Washington and Lee. To those who read an account of the game it would seem that Rutgers made a fine comeback and won the game, justly deserving the victory after their wonderful playing in the fourth period. fourth period.

There are some few, however, who really know the inner secrets of that game, and the simple reason who really know the inner secrets of that game, and the simple reason why Rutgers won with a single point margin. We read from a New Brunswick newspaper, prior to the game that Rutgers would keep five or six of her first string men out of the line-up to save them for Georgia Tech. In reality Rutgers played the second varsity through three entire periods.

The score at the end of the third period was 13-0 in favor of Washington and Lee. At this point in the game, Foster Sanford thought that matters had gone far enough. So he sent in two or three of the old guard. Using the New Brunswick paper again as a source of information we learn that Gardner and Benket were the men sent in to relieve the situation. Gardner is the backbone of the line. He plays right guard and drops back into the backfield on certain formations. Benket is one of the leading halfbacks in the east this year. A remarkable man in the backfield, considering his weight, and the fact that he is very shifty, he is very hard to knock off his feet and is an excellent interferer.

the Scarlet invasion.

Benket is one of the leading half-backs in the east this year. A remarkable man in the backfield, considering his weight, and the fact that he is very shifty, he is very hard to knock off his feet and is an excellent interferer.

Benket Scores Touchdown.

Shortly after these two men were sent in, Benket on a trick end run formation broke through the center of the line for sixty yards and a touchdown. After that the sailing was easy and Rutgers added another touchdown, winning the game.

So it is we learn from the Washington and Lee game, the fact that Rutgers is more to be feared than ever. If they have a second varsity, formidable enough to hold the powerful Generals to two touchdowns in three periods, then what would their first varsity do?

Coupled with that is the fact that Sanford's first varsity has had a complete rest from one strenuous game. This serves to put the men on edge and certainly they will be in top shape when we meet them reputation of Georgia Tech and sespecially the fact that we are particularly good on our own field. He has made up his mind to bring an eastern team into the very heart of football in the south and there humiliate, not only the team, but the lovers of southern football in general. To this end he has concentrated all his strength, little caring whether his first games were won or lost. He was merely building up to a climax game with Georgia Tech. The other games were mere incidents.

The whole team will average around 182 pounds and the line from tackle to tackle will average about 199, and they have sacrificed not a bit of speed for weight, a fast line, that plays hard, rugged football in the eastern style.

To be prepared for Rutgers, we must work and work hard these next few days. There is no slacking up now—no easy going. It's the eternal grind until we have successfully defended our goal line against the Scarlet invasion.

Work Until Dark.

Yesterday we worked until after dark, running signals until they became as second nature, charging low and hard in order that we might meet the Rutgers line at tis own game. Of Strike Taking Effect

New York, October 17.-Professional traders who were already bearish jumped on the stock market today on the threats of a railroad strike and forced down prices of the rails, oils, steel and industrial shares. However, there was no real liquidation. The average man in Wall street and the average holder of stocks does not beleve for a minute that there is going to be a railroad strike on No-

Public sentiment here is plainly leaning toward the plan just offered by the public group of the railroad labor board for averting the railroad strike. The transportation act passed in February of 1920 provided for a railroad labor board of nine members to settle all disputes between the carriers and their employees arising out of wages or working conditions. Of this labor board three members were apointed by the president to look after the interests of the general public, then three members were selected by the managers of the rail-roads to represent the interests of the holders of railway bonds and stocks. The railway labor leaders selected three members to represent the interests of the employees as soon as the announcement of the railway executives was made that the railroad labor board was to be asked to approve an immediate cut of 10 per cent in railway wages nd railway employees answered with the call for a general strike on October 30. President Harding called a conference between the three members of the railroad labor board representing the public and members of the interstate commerce commission to devise a plan whereby the threatened strike could be averted.

The plan thus devised and announced by the three representatives of the public on the railroad labor board provides for an immediate cut in freight rates reflecting the 12 per cent cut in wages which became effective July 1; for suspension of the proposed 10 per cent cut in wages until the cut in freight rates has become effective, stimulating an increase in traffic and at the same time bringing about a reduction in the cost of living upon which the proposed 10 per cent cut in wages can be based. If the carriers follow this plan railway labor will not have a leg on which to stand in fighting the proposed 10 per cent in wages can be based. General sentiment here is that both freight rates and railway.

about a reduction in the cost of living upon which the proposed 10 per cent cut in wages can be based. If the carriers follow this plan rall-way labor will not have a leg on which to stand in fighting the proposed 10 per cent in wages.

General sentiment here is that both freight rates and railway wages must be reduced. In announcing its plan the three representatives of the public on the railroad labor board said: "There is absolutely nothing in the existing situation justifying the carriers and their employees in inflicting ruin-ous results of a strike on themselves and the public. There is no amount of propaganda that can convince the people that either side is entirely blameless." That view is approved here.

It is felt that the railroad managers after having talked with an approximately $171,000 last year and lone, he told the committee the

It is felt that the railroad managers after having talked with government representatives at Washington only a few days ago and the frequency of the first cutting freight rates on agricultural and products to pave the way for a further reduction in wages, made a 100 per cent mistake in going to Chicago and voting for a 10 per cent cut in wages before any cuts in freight rates were made. Railway employees are also criticised for threatening to strike on the July 12 per cent wage cuts; however, it is realized that the real hasis for the threat of a strike is the proposed cut of 10 per cent in wages without a cut in freight rates.

Railroad managers are contend-wages without a cut in freight rates.

Railroad managers are contending that since wages was cut 12 per cent there have been cuts in freight rates. The feeling here is that it is up to the managers to show just how much rates have been cut. In brief, the general feeling here is that the public has been long suffering in the treatment received from both railway managers and employees and that it is high time for the administration to take a firm stand in telling both sides what must and must not be done.

Simmons could not give it, but Representative Upshaw said it was the correspondent of The New Orleans Item, whose name he did not know.

Representative Pou, democrat, North Carolina, Insisted that the wizard have fair play, and Campbell said he was getting it.

"I heard comment in this room that Mr. Simmons collapse was stage play. Anybody could see the witness was ill." said Mr. Pou. Then everybody smiled and the proceedings went ahead.

"Washington, D. C., October 17, 1921.—Certification is made that Colonel William Joseph Simmons has been under my professional care since Thursday, October 13, 1921. I found the patient very much depressed as a result of an attack of acute bronchitis, coupled with laryngitis, together with a bi-latteral tonsilitis. It is very probable that proposed legislation as to the public use of hooded regalla and also in some ways regulating membership drives of organizations may result from the committee hearing; but, outside of that, if there are any further important developments they will very probably come from other departments of the government, if it should be found that federal laws have been violated.

Simmons on Stand.

Colonel Simmons cocupied the witness stand the entire day Monday, answering questions, concerning the income and expenditures of his "invisible empire." He made sweeping denials of charges that the law into its own hands in nurdering outrages in the south and southwest. Simmons admitted that law less acts may have been perpetrated by members of the klan, simmons dealard, sa klansman committing such an act "would lose his robe in ten minutes" if found out" by the klan officials. ON STRIKE TALK

Chicago, October 17.—Railroad strike developments together with the government report on farm reserves broke the price of wheat today 7 cents a bushel. The market closed nervous at 5 to 6%c net lower. Corn lost % to 1%c, and oats 1% to 1%@1%c. In provisions the outcome varied from 7 cents decline to 5 cents advance.

Especially rapid breaking of wheat values were witnessed in the last part of the day except for a little rally just at the finish. From the very outset, however, the last part of the day except for a little rally just at the finish. From the very outset, however, bears had the advantage and made nearly continuous headway on the basis that likelihood of a settlement in advance of the date for an actual walkout on a huge scale was remote. Lack of confidence on the buying side, though, rather than any great pressure of selling appeared to characterize the market. The fact that the government figures as to farm reserves proved to be a good deal less bullish than the majority of traders had looked for was all that was needed to accelerate the fall of prices after midday when pessimism over the strike outlook had virtually deprived the market of support.

New low record prices for German marks were an additional handicap to the bulls, inasmuch as grain imports by German millers would perhaps be further cultailed.

Fears of delay in shipments should there be a railroad strike led to increased buying in refined sugar, but prices were unchanged at 5.30 for fine granulated.

New York, October 17.—The unsettling influence of the threatened railroad strike was reflected by a further severe break in the cotton market here today. Notwithstanding the more or less heavy and steady liquidation of the past two weeks and the extent of previous declines December contracts sold off 18.33 or 88 points below Saturday's closing quotations and more than 360 points below the high record of two weeks ago. That delivery closed at 18.34, with the general market closing weak at a net decline of 65 to 89 points.

The market opened easy at a decline of 20 to 23 points. For a moment or so there appeared to be enough demand around 18.75 for December and 18.50 for January to check the decline, but the buying was soon supplied, and the market began to work still lower. PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, October 17.—(Special.)—The market opened down on weaker Liverpool cables owing to the strike news that was prevalent over the week-end. However, the contracts sold were well taken and the trade bought considerable cotton at even prices urder the market. Other market factors were overshadowed by the strike situation. It is too early to forecast the outcome of it, but the press advices so far published would indicate an adjustment before the

MUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, October 17.—(Special.)—The cotton market is suffering from outside influences. When we say outside influences we mean influences other than prospective supply and demand. The possible railroad strike is very disturbing and trading is influenced thereby, according to the different constructions placed upon the possibilities. In addition to this the market suffered today a drastic decline in Liverpool or reports of rioding in Egypt. Just why this should affect the market we are unable to explain, but that is the reason assigned for Liverpool's decline. Another, disturbing feature was a new low record made for German marks. The situation may be better described as a tragedy of errors outside as well as inside of cotton circles. The trade is considering and seriously debating the next ginners' report. It is continued to be thought by many that the report will seriously discredit the last government estimate of the crop.

Charges that in arresting a man, charged with being intoxicated at Whitehall and Alabama streets at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, two patrolmen were unnecessarily brutal, and beat their prisoner over the head, although he was powerless to resist, were made several hours after the alleged occurrence to Night Chief of Police A. L. Jett. It was understood at a late hour Monday night that no investigation had been made, and police officials refused to divulge the names of officers who made the arrest. Grady hospital officials report that J. A. Wright, 38 years old, of 781 East North avenue, was brought to the hospital, with his head severely injured by blows inflicted by the policemen arresting him. After his scalp lacerations had been treated, he was taken to police headquarters and locked in a cell. He was arrested by Officers Cook and Rivers on a charge of drunk and disorderly.

H. W. Cutter, a business man living at the Winecoff hotel, declared that when the man was beaten, one policeman held one arm and the other officer the other, in such a manner that the man did not attempt resistance when arrested, but was merely talkative.

"I would give $75, take a day off from my business and spend it in court," declared Mr. Cutter, "to see those policemen fired from the force for their brutality." Mr. Cutter states that he has in his possession names of other witnesses, who will substantiate his assertions.

"Cunning," the "mental miracle man," at the Lyric theater, told mis audience Monday night that there would be no railroad strike on october 30. "Cunning" fs as mystifying as Alexander, whom Atlanta remembers so well. He tapped his forehead, read out the questions resting sealed and untouched on the stage and identified the persons who asked them. He also identified the owner of a load of hogs at the Southeastern fair and assured him that they would be prize winners.

A diversity of talent makes up the bill for the first half of the week. Johnny Black, who wrote "Dardanella." had some newer compositions, also, which he played, and in addition to his talent at composition he displayed his ability at the piano, with the saxaphone, trombone, cornet and violin.

The Lorner Girls, with Jack Carrol, presented a group of artistic dance creatons. "Happiness." with Jack Dunham and Andy Williams dispensing it, was received with laughter. The bill opened with James H and Bessie Aitken "On Paradlse Roof."
